'58 TORCH

"Hi! We're John and Judy, and we are here to help you look back over the 1957-58 school year at Alhambra. It is all here for you to see and remember in the 1958 Torch. The staff has tried to make this a real memory book; one that will grow more valuable to you each year. Come along with us and we will remind you of things that you have probably forgotten."

"You know, at sometime or other, almost everyone meets a problem and needs help in solving it. We have found, during the past six years of junior high and high school, that we have had a person with us who has been a specialist in helping us solve our problems. We would like to show our appreciation for all he has done for us by dedicating the 1958 Torch to our teacher, counselor, and good friend, Mr. Gene Thomas."

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Student Body Government is considerably bigger than most people realize. For instance, the student government takes over considerable responsibility in providing the funds for our American Field Service Exchange student each year. It administers a $9000 budget which is spent exclusively on student affairs, and it carries out other services such as sponsoring dances, selling the individual pictures, and holding assemblies and elections.

Our Exchange student this year is Klaus Wendler, who comes to us from Germany.

A big step towards student control was taken this year when the Senior Court made its first major decision. Members of the court were Bob Jensen, Allen DeFraga, and John Talt.

Picture sales are handled here by Rosalie Fazzini and Edna Edwards, representing the student council. The council does this work mostly as a service to the students. A small profit is realized, and this goes into the general student body fund.

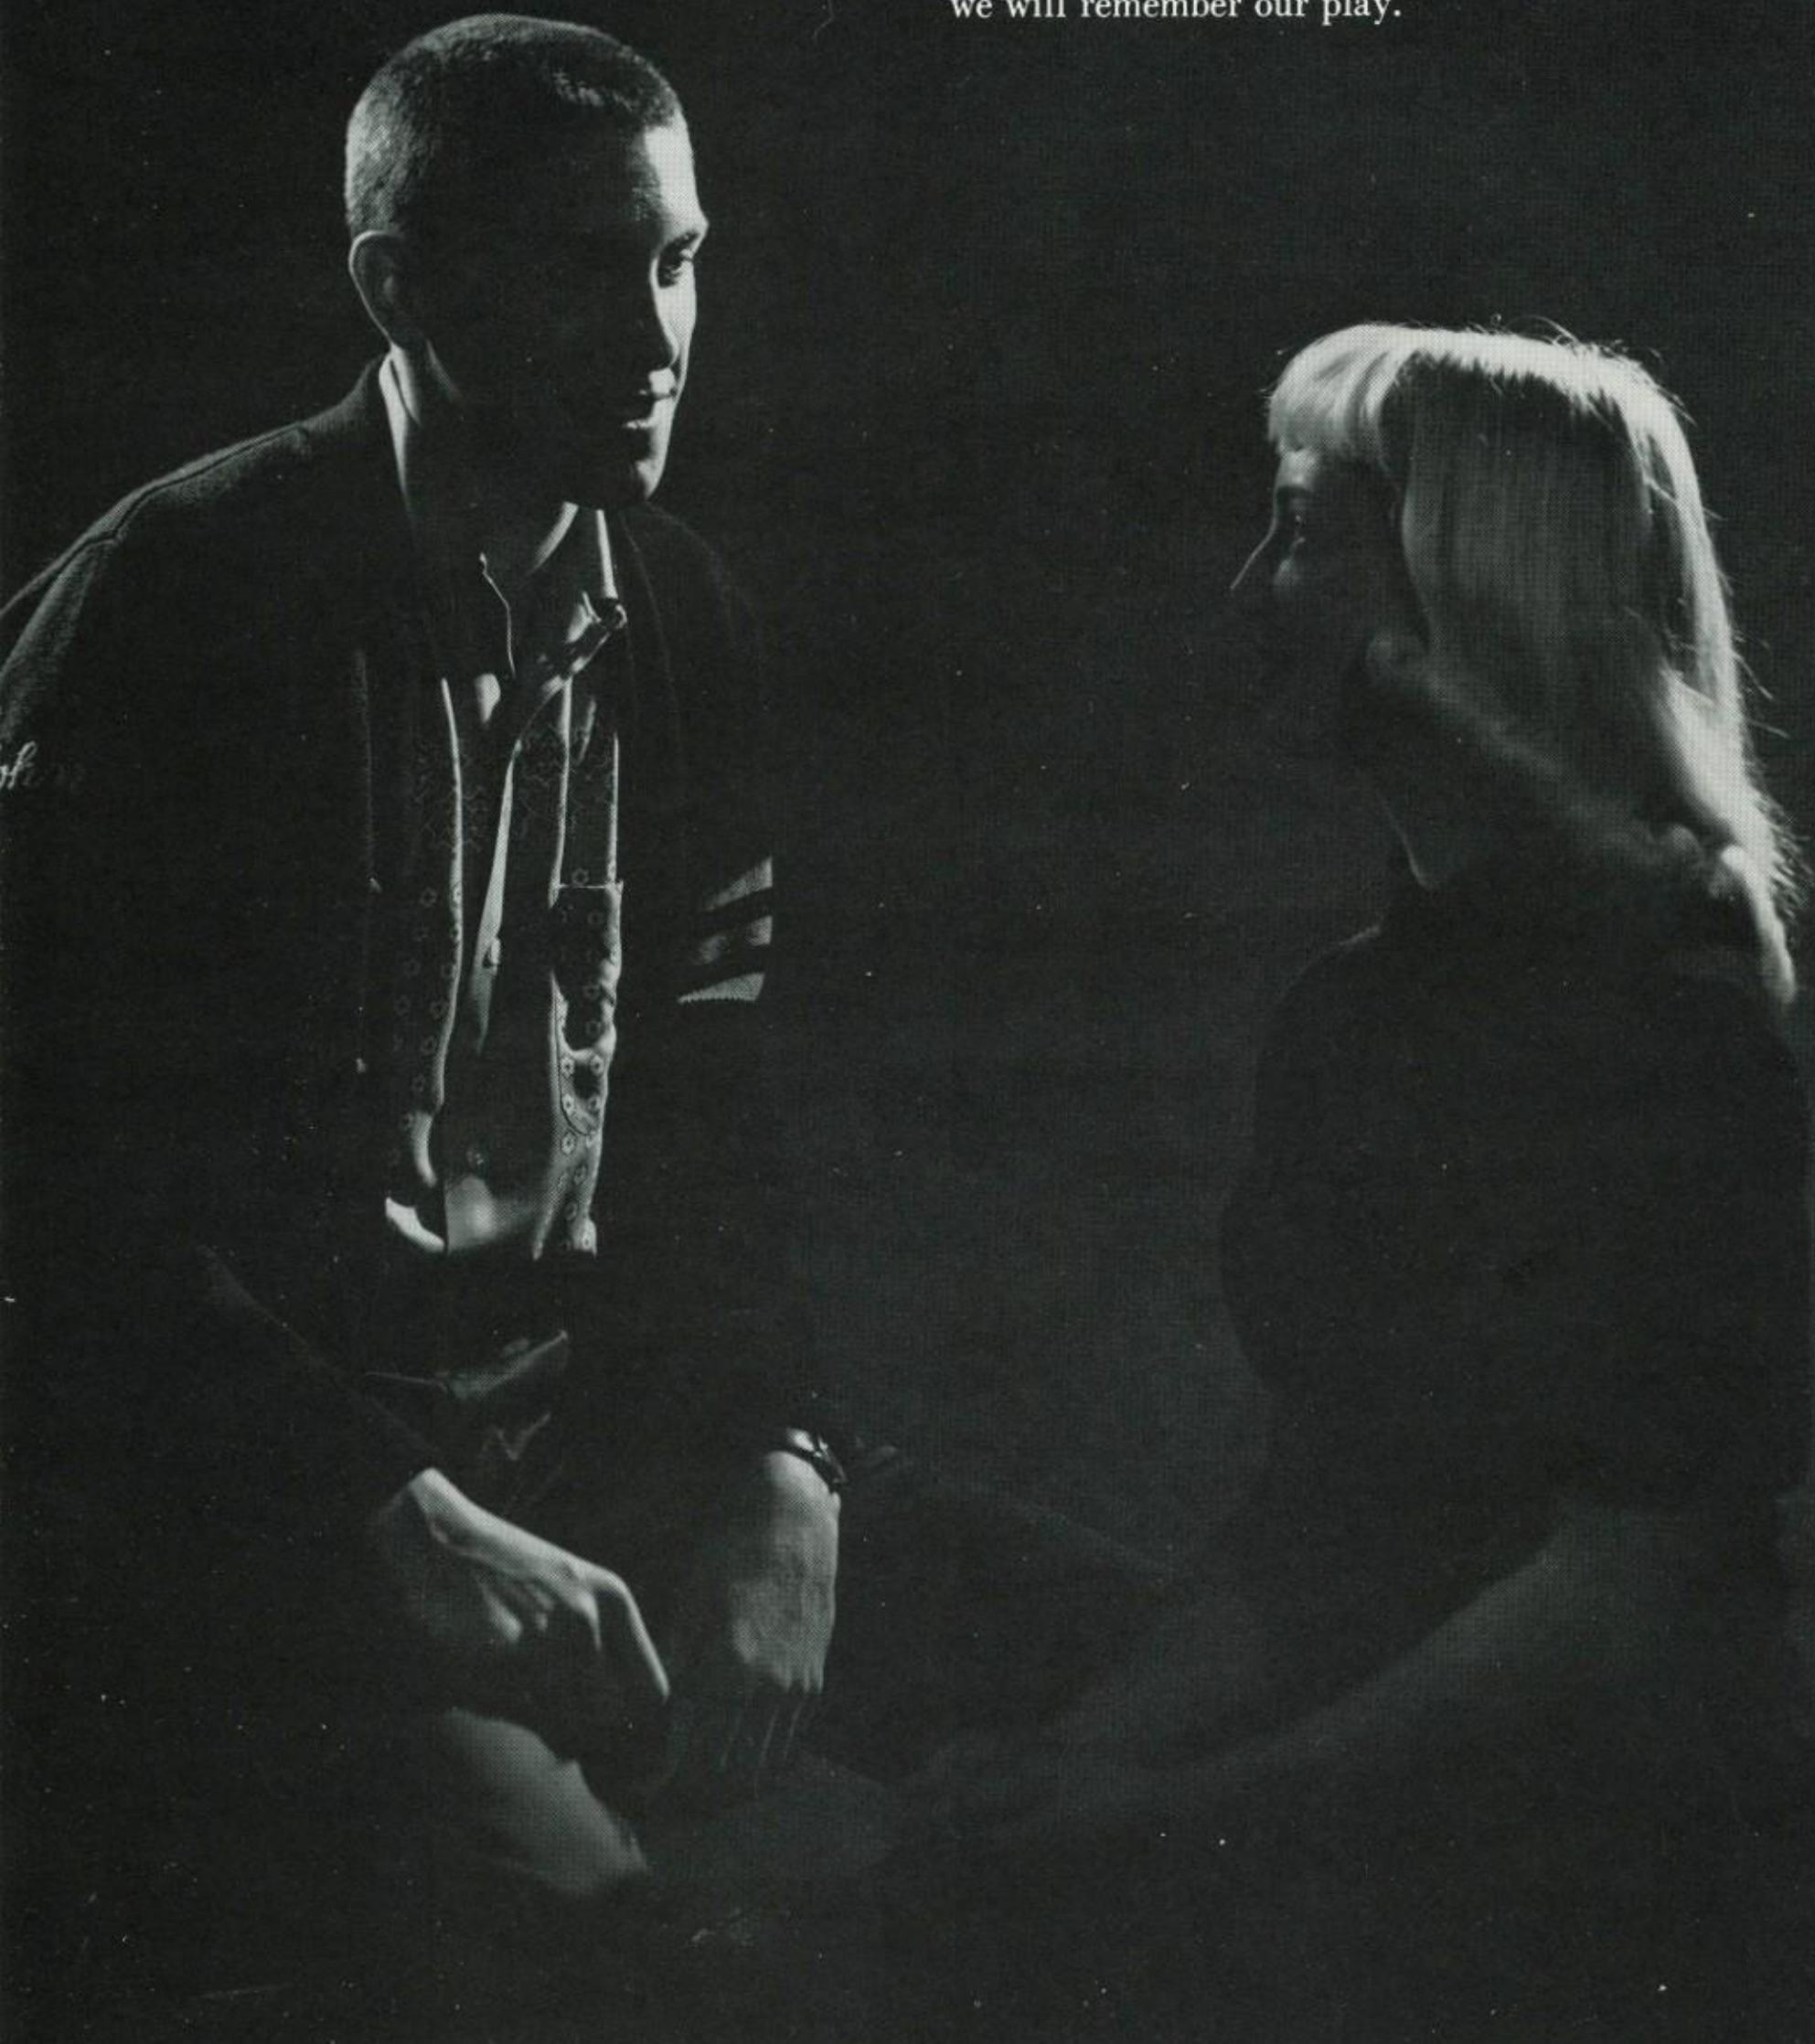
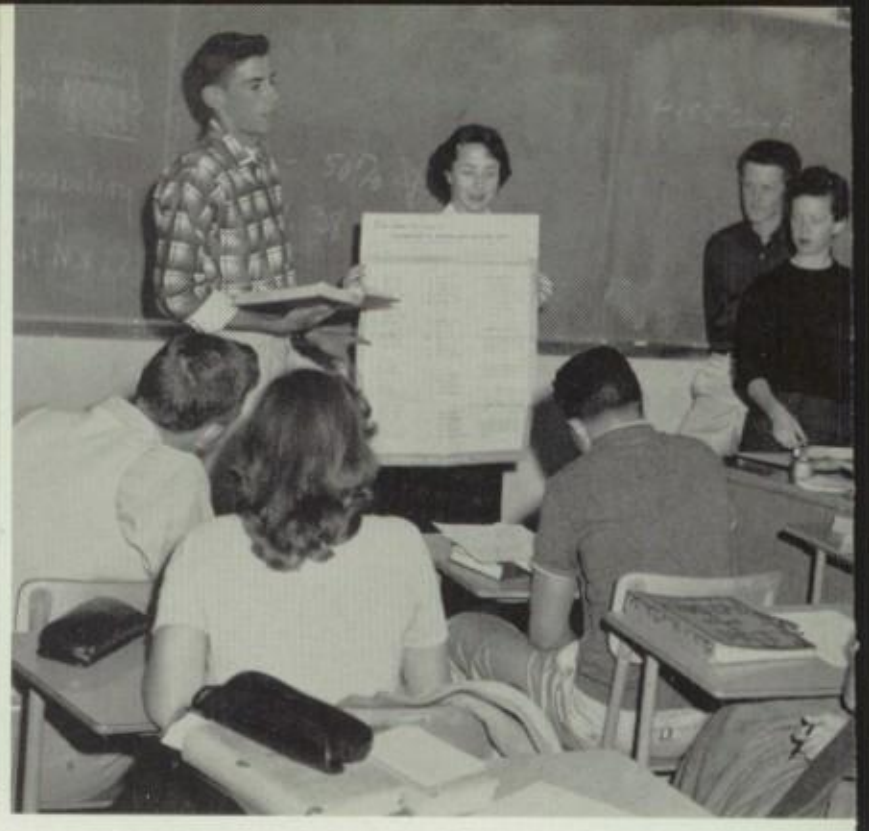
CUSTODIANS: Allen Coulson, Bill Stringert, Ivan Carmichael, Ed Hamel, Robert E. Lee, James McElrath.

CAFETERIA STAFF: Loyce Carlson, Freda Keat, Carmen Perry, Ruth Machado, Jane Frazer, Bette Medeiros.

"When you stop to think about it, the only reason we have high schools is to provide us with an opportunity to learn. This makes the really important things those which happen in the classroom. Come to think about it, even though we might not see it this way now, twenty years from now we will probably remember our work here more vividly than we will remember our play."



French III students Allen De Fraga, Millicent Bonner, Jeri Christian and Judy Viland take an imaginary trip through France.



English III students use a pronunciation chart to help them with vocabulary. Katy Lyon and Richard Viera demonstrate.

Loryn Harbaugh, Emagene Brigden, Marles Burke, Marge Fryer, and Luella Lucido act out a Spanish skit.

ENGLISH AND

"We recognize that knowing how to use our language is pretty important. A full English program, journalism, speech, dramatics, and two foreign languages, French and Spanish, help us to achieve the kind of language proficiency necessary."

Left: Busy with vocabulary—Allen Brown, Linda Alford, Jeri Christian and Mike Aielo.

Anita Shrader argues the affirmative in a debate.

FOREIGN LANGUAGES

"The English program consists of four years each of college preparatory, general, and basic classes. There are also classes in remedial reading. We can also take three years of French and three years of Spanish in preparation for living in our cosmopolitan world."

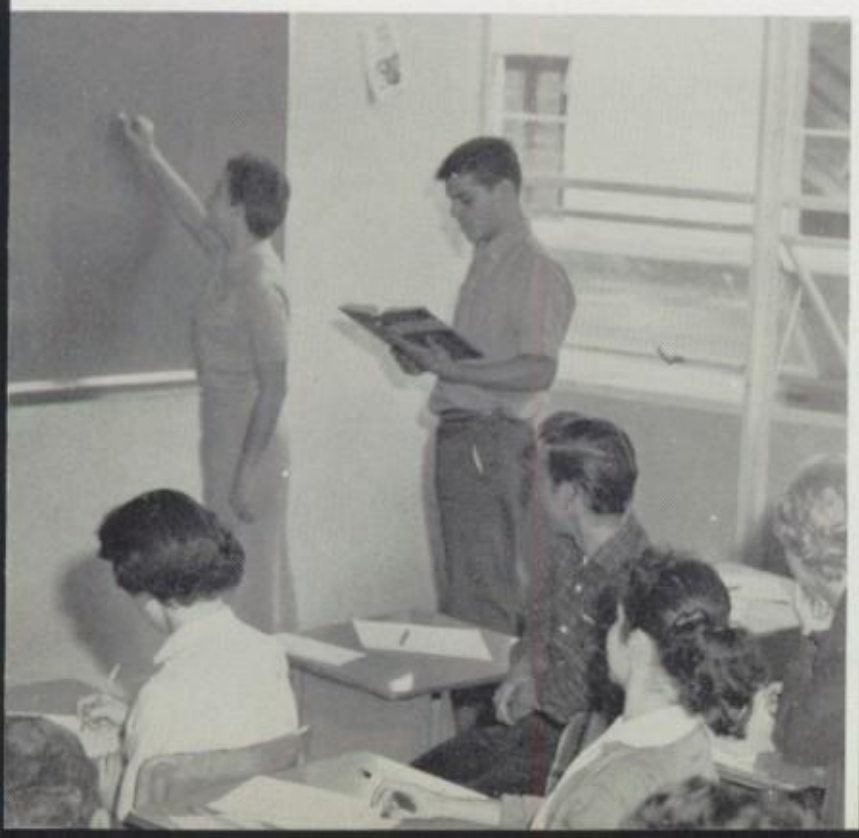
Kaaren Olssen writes as Harry Tura dictates in English class.



"This new literature book has prettier pictures, but it is the same old literature," says Linda Ehler to Bill Evenson and Bobbie Parkinson.

ART

Linda Harrison, Grant Warren, Bunny Balestrieri, and Donna Britt use the silk screen. Below, Sue Windham, Fred Williams, Anita Shrader and Ralph Simmons paint.

"Out in room 27 a student finds out that he can do creative things with his hands. Mrs. Lyser teaches art out there all day long, and it is surprising to find out how artistic some of the students are. It is possible to take three years of art at Alhambra as courses are offered in beginning art, applied art, and advanced art. Mr. Schroeder also teaches crafts."

Art classes work on special projects.

Phil Slibowski tries out a wood painting process in beginning art.

SOCIAL STUDIES

"Social studies is a big field. It ranges from learning to get along with each other to learning about our country's wonderful history and its place in our world. The social studies classes offered to us at Alhambra include social problems, senior problems, U.S. history, world history, psychology, and driver training."

How does a person learn to do things? Well, a rat learns by repetition, and it just stands to reason that a psychology student can learn in the same way. Pat Wheeler and Georgia Cervenka try their luck at learning a finger maze while the rest of the class looks on.

Lee Struer reports on the day's news in U.S. history class. The class keeps up with current events as well as learning about the past.

This is one test that you can't flunk! The freshmen are taking a Kuder Preference Test to find out their interest areas.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Volleyball proves school isn't "all work and no play."

Glen Kinion displays his skill on the trampolin as the rest of the gym class looks on.

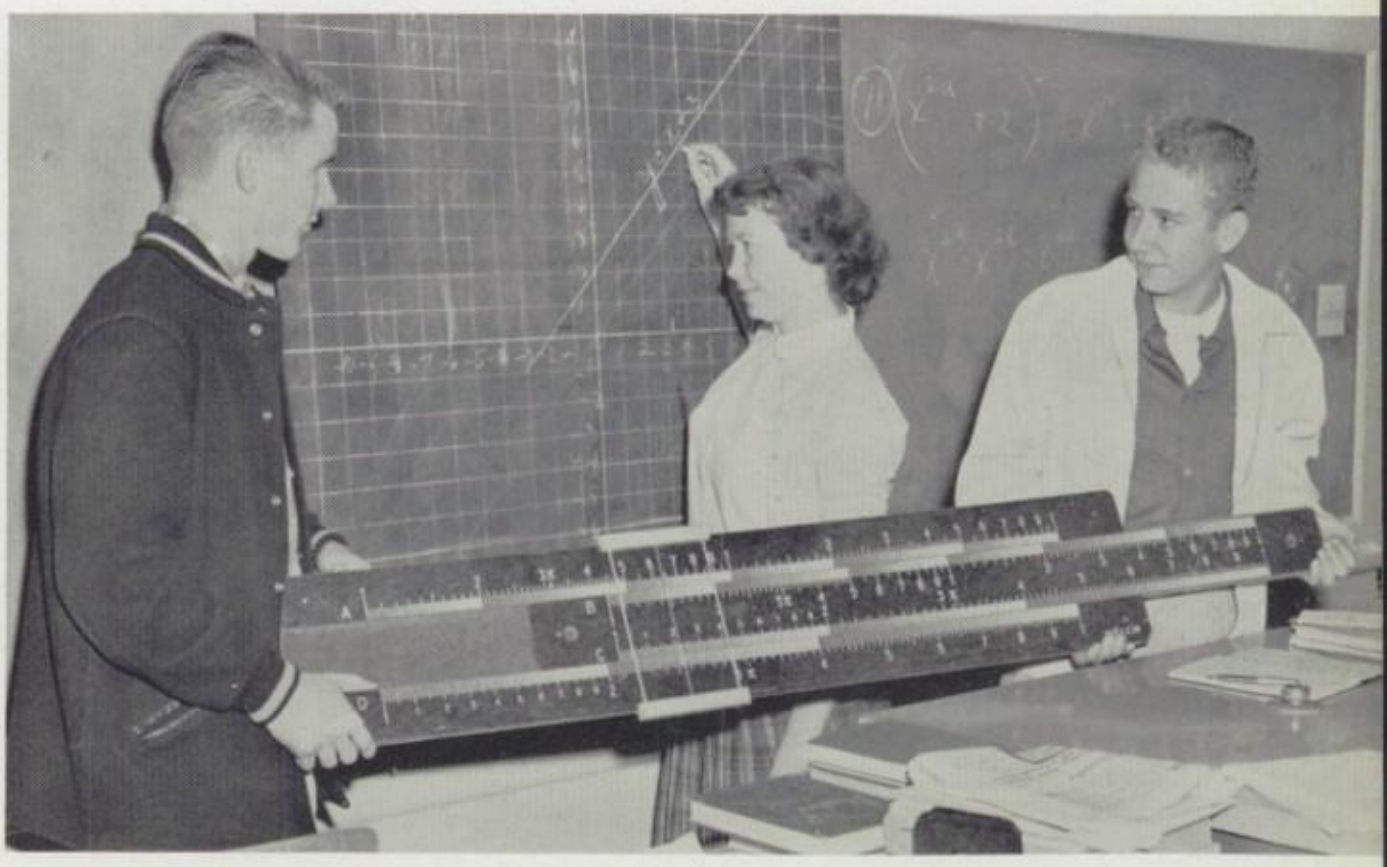
"The best news in the physical education department this year is the completion of the new shower and locker rooms for the girls. The new building also includes a mat room, a classroom, and offices for the P.E. instructors. Just think, though, how we are going to miss that refreshing run through the rain from the auditorium to the showers."

Modern Dancers are Wendy Aulthouse, Kathy Gardner, Marilyn Jeppson, Deanna Ellis, Kaaren Olsson, Judy Beatty, Clara Ventimiglia, Zoe Boyer, and Nancy Wells.

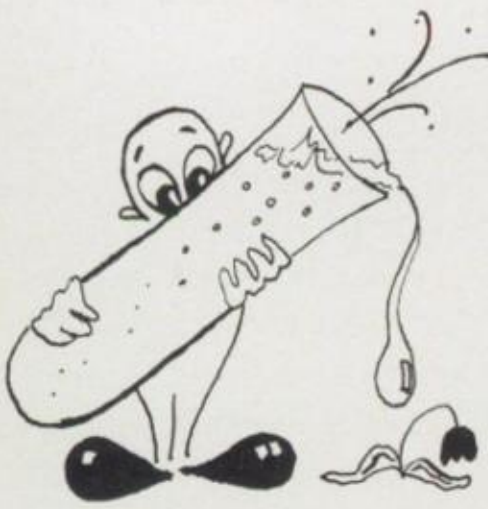
SCIENCE AND MATHEMATICS

"This was the year of the Sputnik, and people all over America looked critically at the high school science programs. They found us here at Alhambra in pretty good shape with good labs, good teachers, and serious students. The top attraction of the science department this year was the visit to our school by Mr. Ernest Spafford, one of the ten traveling science teachers in the country. Alhambra was one of 300 high schools to take part in this program, and the week was a profitable one for all who took part."

'The music goes 'round and 'round and comes out here," explains John Talt.
Below: The EXPLORER'S orbit is being plotted by math students Rich McLaughlin, Donna Hagemann, and Ed Keller.



A human model is studied by Sharon Sacchi, Jim Sorahan, Jim Rutherford, Pat Kelly and Janet Pistochini.



"We'll catch up with Russia, yet!" says Elaine Marshall.

The dance band meets during second period each day. Members are Jim Kittle, Cherie Carmichael, Cathy Pelot, Donna Hagemann, Sherman Taylor, Ray Cress, Jim Moses, Dale Murrie, Jerald Cerri, Gerald Annis, and Brett Foster.

Donna Varrio, Carolyn Tibbit, and Sharon Isabel practice during third period.

MUSIC

"Alhambra's music program includes the band, a girls' chorus, and the improved and popular Alhambra Hi Notes. This group pleasantly surprised the student body early in the season, and has been in demand through the year for dances. Beginners get music training here, and the band is constantly building for the future."

This is the fifth period chorus class. This is the first year that chorus has been a credit class here.

HOME ECONOMICS

The right pattern and the right material are of prime importance in sewing. Pat Hogan, Paula Negherbon, Linda Shepherd, and Alice Stephens make their choice.

"Four years of homemaking are available to girls at Alhambra High School. Three years are offered in succession, and then Senior Homemaking is offered to senior girls who have had one year previously. Cooking, sewing, interior dcorating, and home management are some of the skills learned by these future homemakers."

The freshman and sophomore girls made Christmas cookies, and then they gift wrapped them.

Loryn Harbaugh, Marles Burk, Barbara Seibert, and Judy Arendtson work on new wardrobes in Senior Homemaking.

SHOP CLASSES

Marvin Marcus and Don Stilly master the art of welding. Below: Richard Bailey and Gini Martini work on their boat.

"Radio and Electricity Shop was added to Alhambra's shop program this year. A complete shop program is available to students who are interested in the vocational fields. This includes general shop, woodshop, carpentry, machine shop, industrial drawing, welding and sheet metal, and auto shop."

Below: Don Bartsch explains a new machine in one of the metal shop classes.

Piston setting and boring engine cylinders are a regular part of the auto shop classes.

Barbara Minear, Sue Davidson and Edna Stanley practice Account Writing.

Barbara Linam explaining techniques of the mimeograph to Susan Decker and Joanne Spina.

COMMERCIAL

"The business world takes a large number of our graduates, so it is only natural that the modern high school has many courses to help these people in this kind of employment. At AUHS, it is possible to get junior business training, clerking, bookkeeping, typing, stenography, business communications, and secretarial practice."

Typing II students work for speed and accuracy.

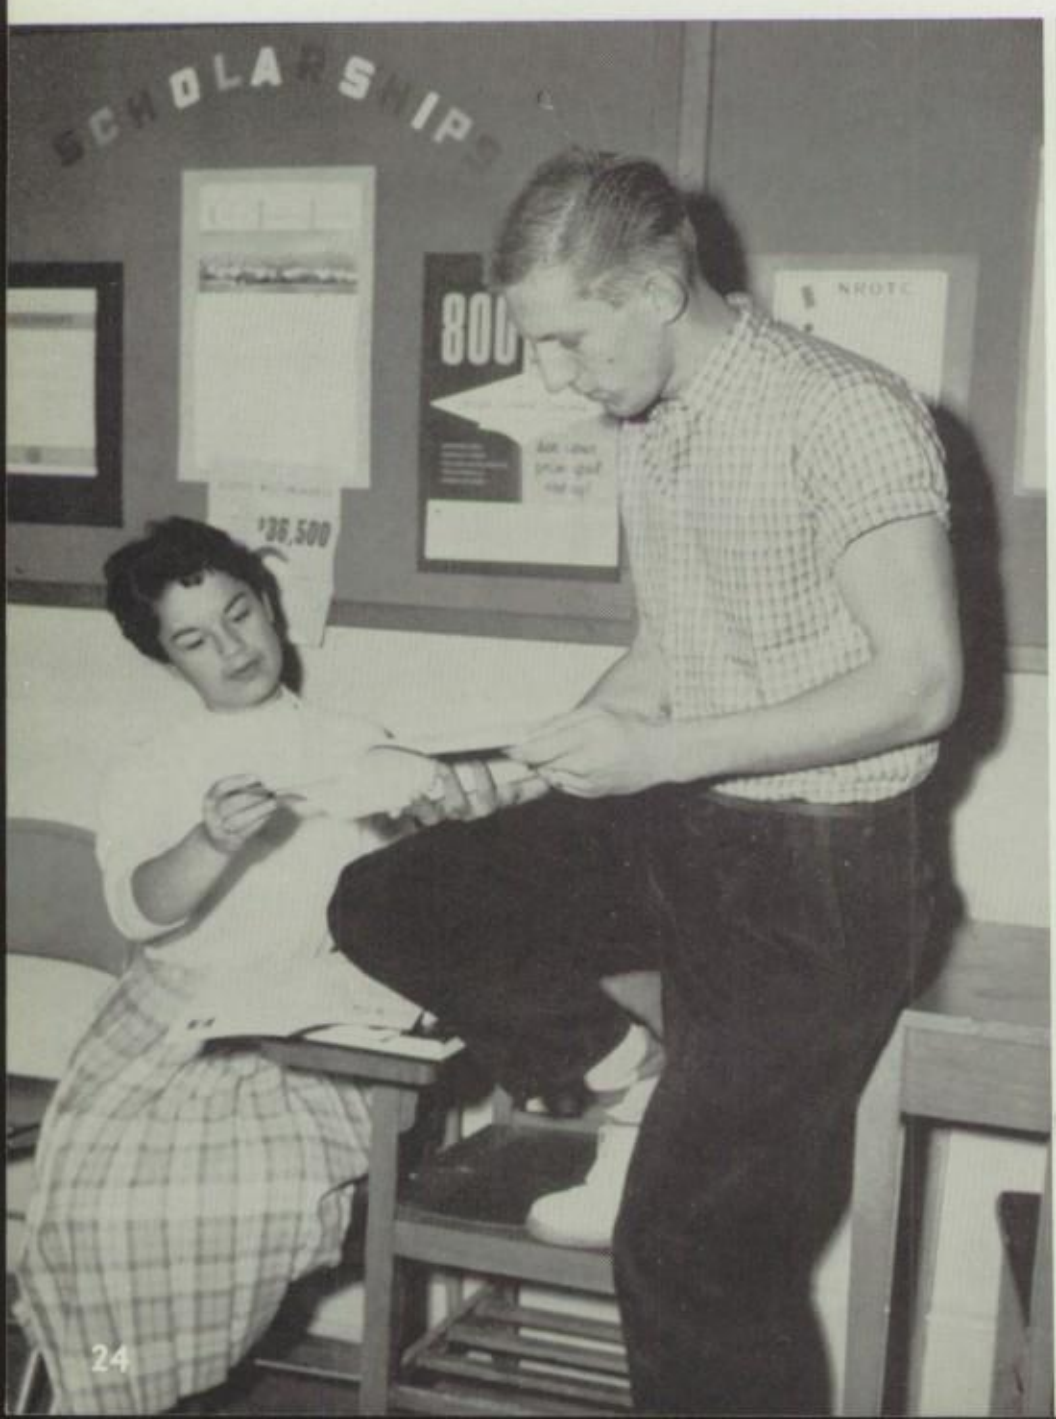
Zoe Boyer dictates to stenography students.

COUNSELING AND GUIDANCE

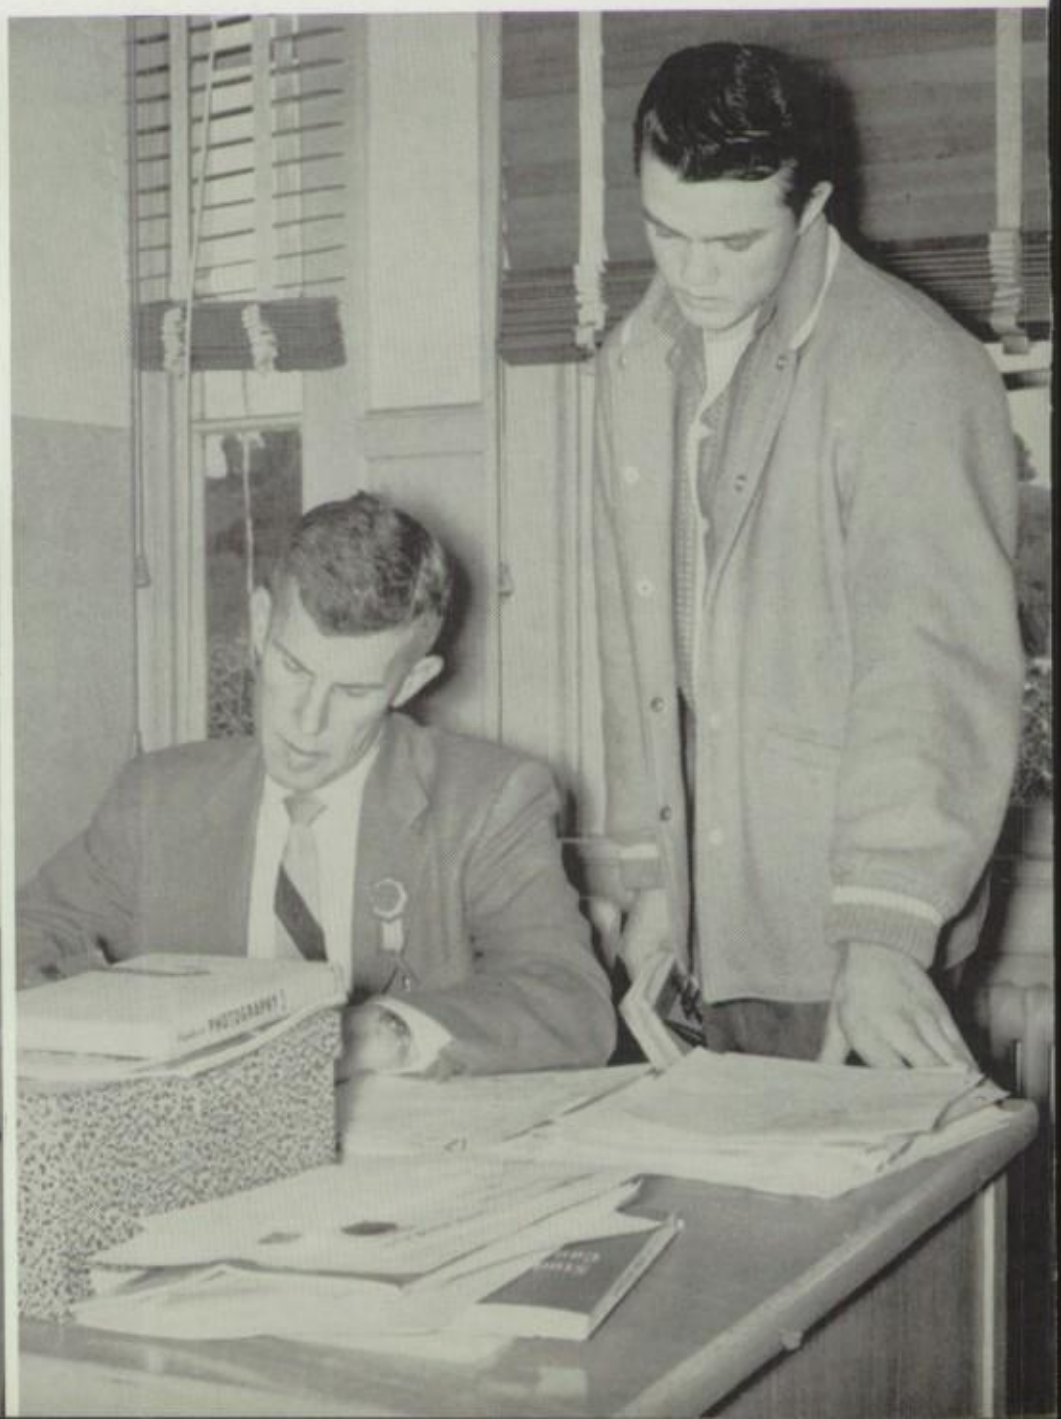
A freshman with problems can usually find help in solving them by seeing his counselor, Mr. McBride. Sue Cowell and Laurel Peters are trying to figure out a good schedule for next year.

"When a fellow needs a friend—well, he usually heads for his counselor around a high school. The guidance department is staffed with people who know a lot about you, and who really try to keep you on the right track in your school work. They do a lot of other things, too. For instance, they take charge of the testing program, they arrange for vocational talks, and they are the ones responsible for class placement and scheduling. They even keep track of you after you leave school!"

"How do you go to college?" "One way is with a scholarship," says Marilynn Santos to Dave DeFields.



Richard Youngman is discussing a student body problem with Mr. Spade.



"This was Alhambra's year in sports! Our teams played well, and our students supported them, win or lose. The football team nailed down second place in the league, and the basketball team did almost as well. Student interest was high, and both the team and the students displayed a high level of sportsmanship all year long."

Ron DeMonner brought this pass from Laird down for a good gain in the Liberty game.

Rich McLaughlin, the Bulldog's top ground gainer runs for good yardage around the left end.

1957 – A YEAR

1957 was "comeback year" for the Bulldogs. They won five and lost four games, and took second place in the conference.

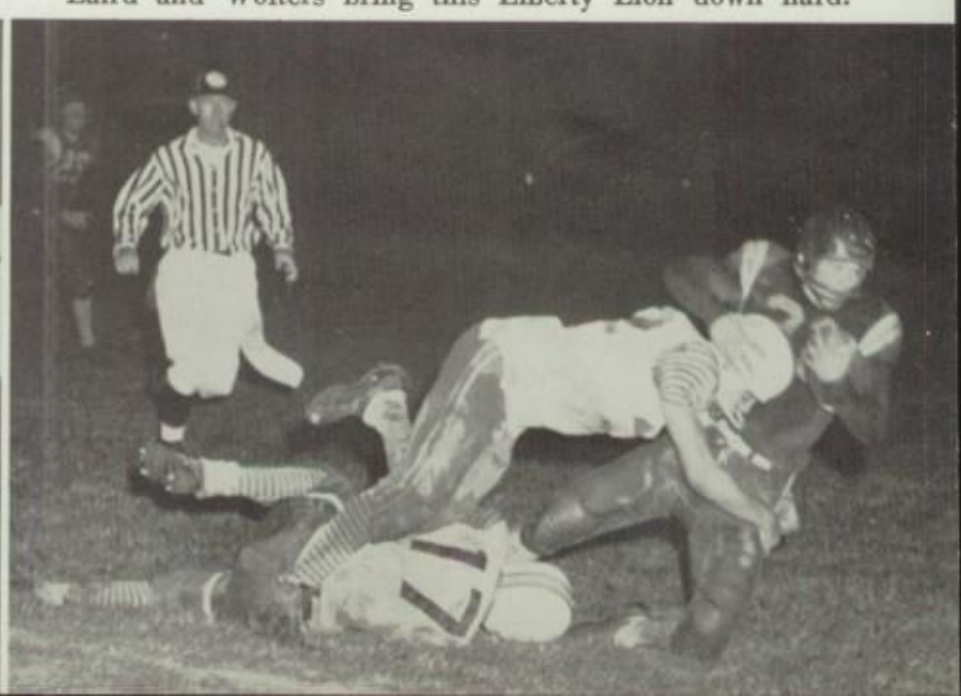
A good line and a fast backfield made Alhambra a tough team to beat this year. Receiving conference honors were McLaughlin, Wolters, Laird, Morris, Bartsch, and DeMonner.

The familiar 44, Rich McLaughlin is hemmed in here after a short gain.

Bob Greene picks up yardage as he gets a good block from Jerry Wolters.

Dave Johnson picked up about forty yards in this run. It was a key play in the Bulldog victory over Sam Ramon.

Laird and Wolters bring this Liberty Lion down hard.



This might have been six points for the John Swett Indians, but McLaughlin had other ideas aobut it.

OF SUCCESS!

This year the J.V.s won two and lost four. After a season of rough playing they finished in fourth place. They showed some promising material for next year's varsity. Below and to the right, shows some of this year's J.V. action. Emile Pallotta, Frank Troia, and Will Newman to the right and Steve Nye in the foreground below.

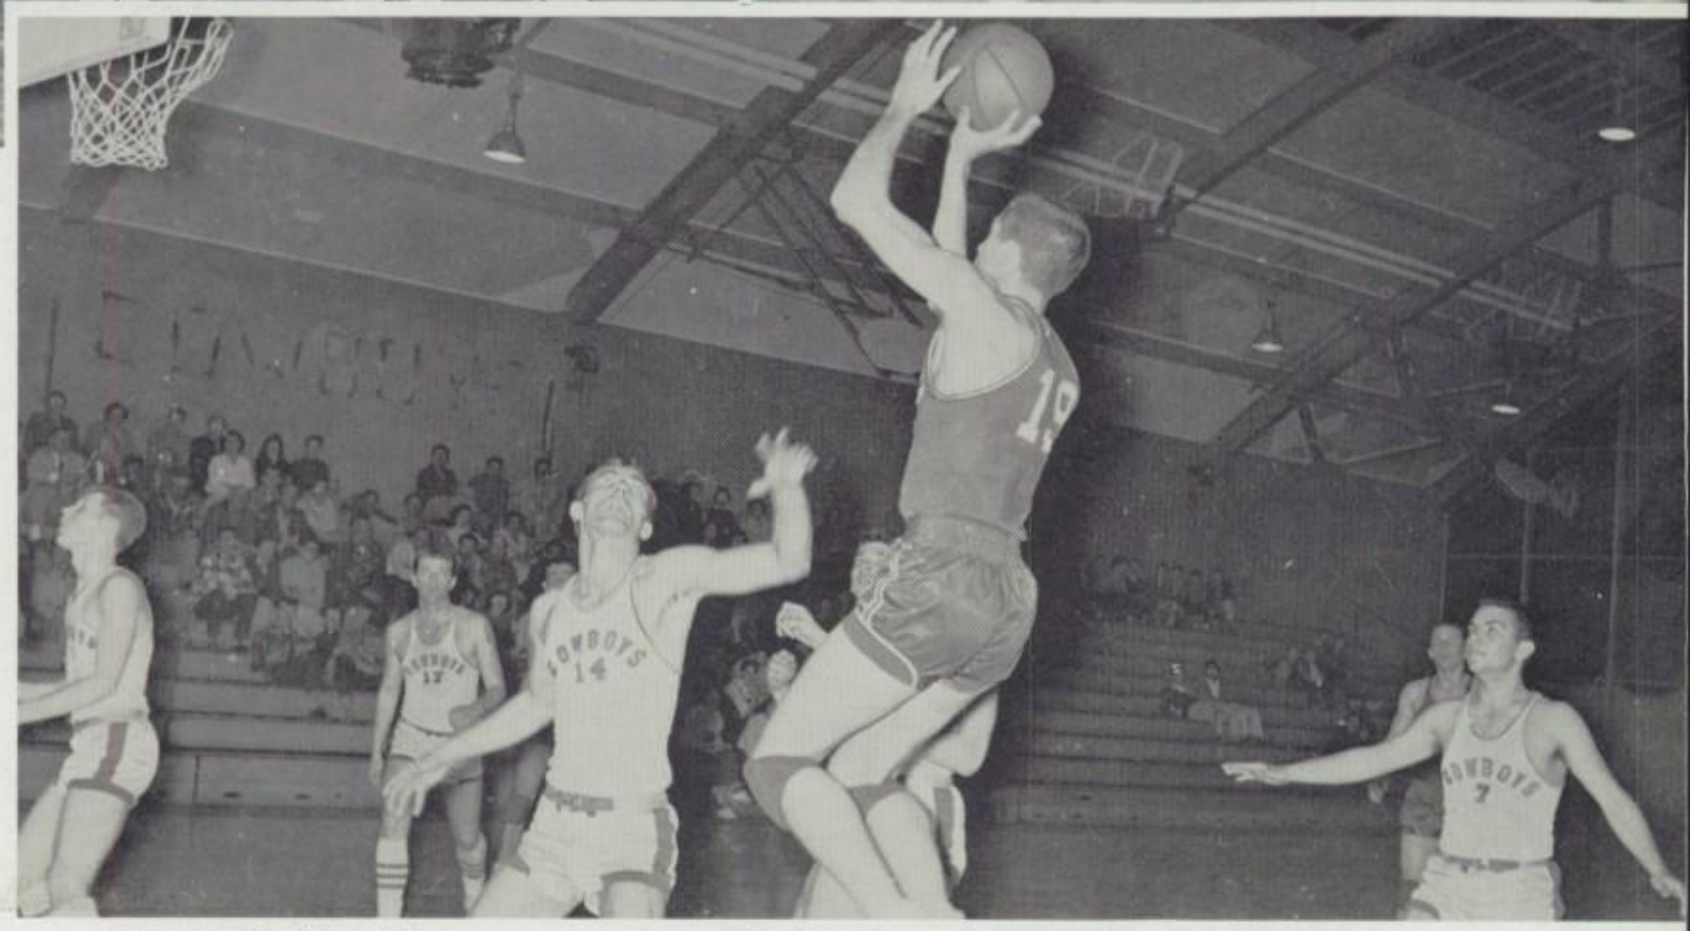
Nobody is there to stop Ron DeMonner from hitting two points in the Albany game. Albany won the game, and went on to tie for the championship.

Darwin Mickle has this shot up against the De-Anza Dons.

Everyone wants the ball here in the game against DeAnza. DeAnza topped the Bulldogs in this game.

A's



This shot by John Talt accounted for two of his 20 points as the Bulldogs kept the Cowboys from winning the championship.

B's

LeRoy Fonceca drove under and made this shot. Tom Hoffman is the man coming in for a possible rebound. This was one of the best games of the season as the Alhambra "B" team came from behind and beat the Livermore Cowboys in an over-time period.

Dennis Watson looked good this year as a member of the freshman and "B" teams. Here he hits against Pittsburg.

LeRoy Fronceca, Rich Viera, and Hal Shephard mix it up for the rebound in the game with San Ramon.

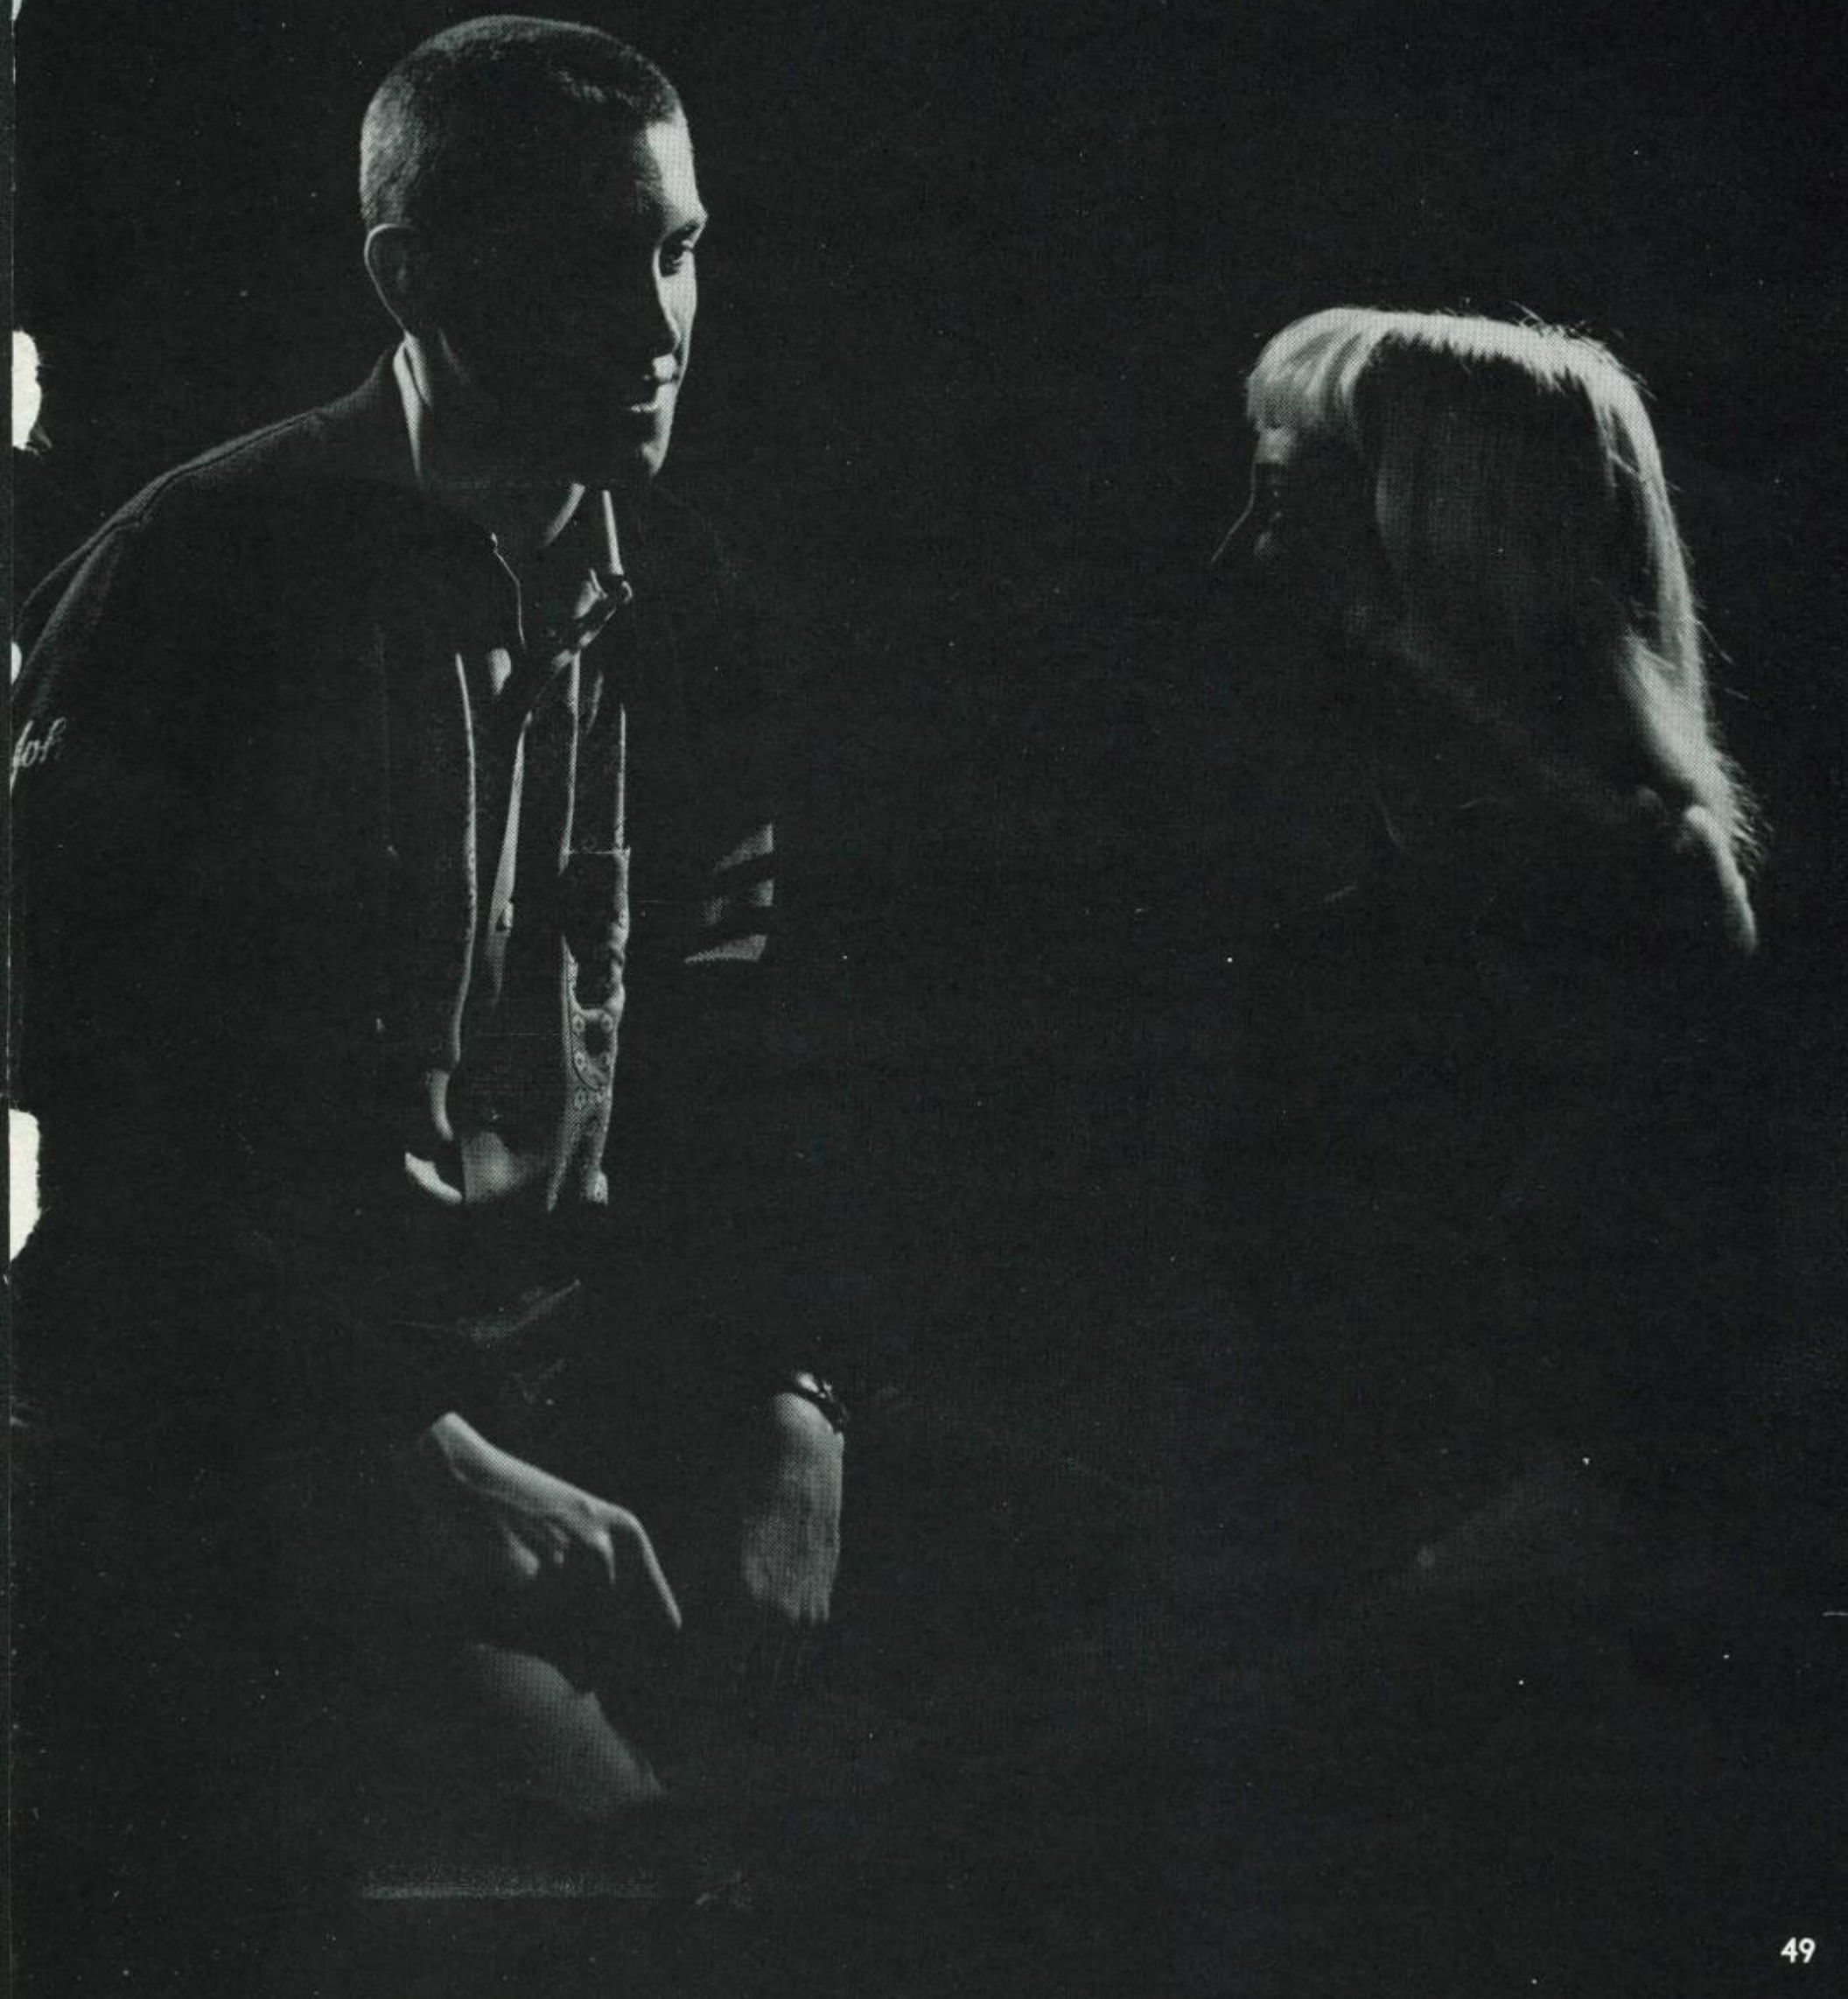
Shelia Cahill made a beautiful Madonna as the Modern Dance Group presented the Ave Maria at the Christmas assembly.

"Sometimes it seems as if it is just one club meeting after another. Alhambra High School does have its share of clubs and out of school activities, and each of them exists for an educational reason. Of course we forget about that, but taking an active part in these activities does help us to be better students."

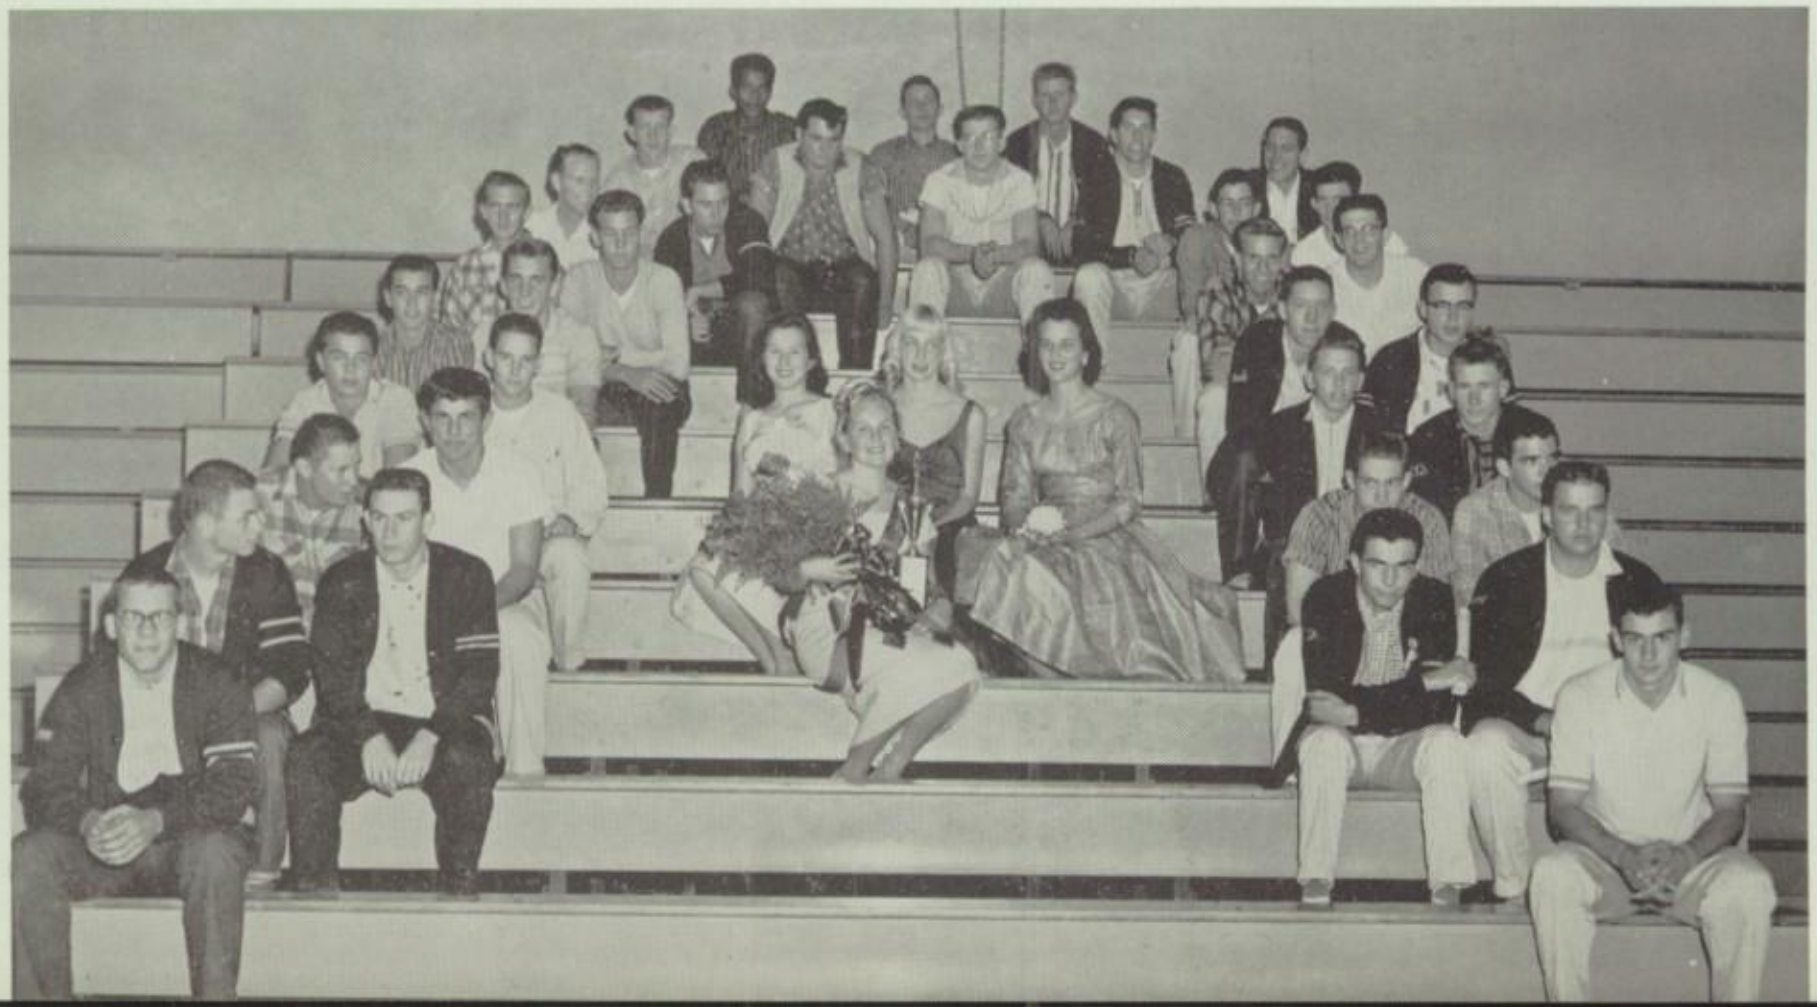


1957 HOMECOMING

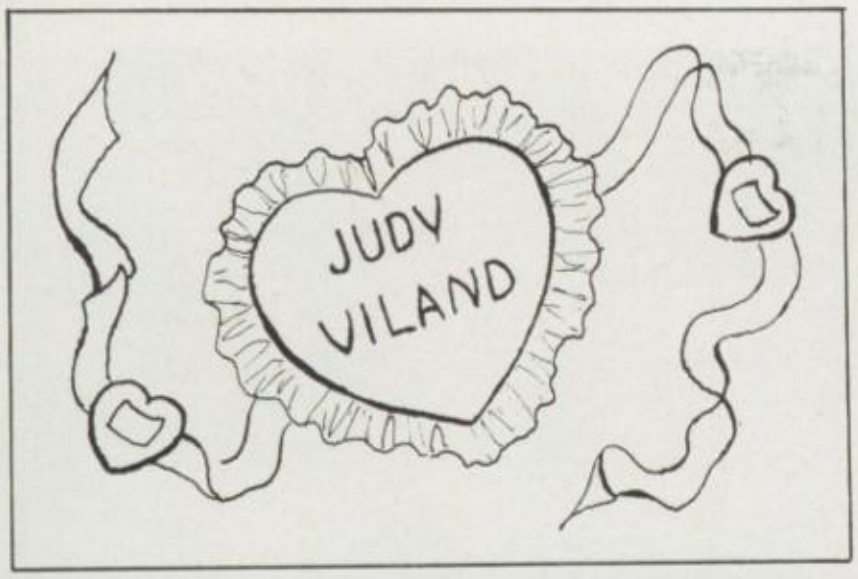
"Me???" screamed Sharon Wolter as she became aware that the crown was being placed on her head. Princesses Elaine Marshall, Judy Viland, and Joan Strickland helped make it a beautiful homecoming.

Darwin Mickle, team captain, officially declares Sharon Homecoming Queen.

The beauties and the beas—uh, football team line up for the traditional "A." By the way, we won the game, too!



BASKETBALL SWEETHEART



Sweetheart candidates were Elaine Marshall, Judy Viland, Marge Fryer, Ann Hulten, and Loryn Harbaugh.

ALHAMBRA TIMES

"The Alhambra Times had a new look this year as it switched to a four-column format. The Times was published every third week, and was printed by photo-offset. A special edition for Homecoming and an open-house edition were printed and the Journalism I students put out two cub editions. Also a project of the Times staff was the Senior Edition."

The sports staff was Mike Hickey, Gerald Cabral and Albert Greene. Lonnie Beverly, typist, and Serena Upshaw, artist, work below.

Each Times was made up this way to be sent to the printer. Donna Delchini, Bob Flackus, and Gary Russell work on lay-out.

The five Alhambra students who represented us at the Governor's Conference in Sacramento are, left to right: Marie Durkee, Zoe Boyer, Barry Bradley, Claudia Laird, and Judy Viland.

Alhambra's first attempt to establish a "Teen Code" was done by these students. They are: Claudia Laird, Bob Gianini, John Talt, Linda Cook, Joan Adams, Clyde Laird, Sue Fick, Mike Collins, and Jackie Cecil.

"BALCONY SCENE"

Alhambra's prize-winning one-act play featured: Jerald Cerri, Lee Struer, Lee Adams, Judy Viland. Cecelia Tutt, Chris Newman, Melodie Boucher, Sandy Williams.

CAST

Robert Templin	Lee Struer
The Angel	Lee Adams
A man	Chris Newman
His Wife	Cecelia Tutt
A Woman	Sandy Williams
Her Daughter	Melodie Boucher
A Gangster	Jerald Cerri
Claire	Judy Viland

"C'mon pal, we got a long journey," sez the Gangster.

Our drama group treated us to their version of "Balcony Scene" at Christmas. We thought it was good, but we didn't realize how good it really was. Here is a picture of the proud cast displaying a couple of small trophies that they won.

These people might be asked, "Who listens?" It seems as if they are all talking at once, but they are really rehearsing lines for "A Cat."

A beautiful Christmas tree brightened up our main hall in December. Girls were asked to volunteer to decorate it, and we caught Alma Van Brunt, Kathi Harris, and Ruth Campbell "in the act."

"Man! This stuff really sends me! Cerri, my favorite drummer boy, how did I get so much talent?" Jimmy Moses is the patient sufferer.

SMACK! Ah, yes. Life's little duties can give a team captain so much pleasure! And then, during basketball, if we could just figure out what our favorite fems were looking at, we might know what they were thinking about. Ema says "I'm Emma Hathaway, and I'm from Manhattan—and they are not watching me, Mr. Spaderino!" Spike made like a musician and led our band, and then, the next thing we knew, he was trying to pick a fight with the big bad wolf.

"We talk about buildings, and playing fields, and swimming pools, but it is really the PEOPLE who make the school. Our classmates, our teachers, our administrators, and our parents make our school what it is."

SOPH CANDIDS

Sophomore boys Roger Greene, Bill Wainwright, and Will Newman forget about the superiority that comes with age and share a box lunch with Judy Delulio, freshman. Of course it was Judy's lunch. Proceeds from the box lunch social were used in the American Field Service program.

It takes a lot of paint to create a Tropical Paradise. Lois Quontamatteo and Carol Pistochini spread it around a bit.

The big surprise at the Sophomore Hop was honest to goodness orchids. Marylee Taylor and Larry Dodge hand them out here.

Linda Harrison and Francine Stevens baited their box lunch with fried chicken. It had the desired effect; that is, to attract a covey of male admirers, and to raise more money for the A.F.S. program.

"Going once, going twice, and Sold!" Mr. Dougan was the auctioneer, and the hungry boys bought boxes like Mad!

The commuters, whiling away the time on a rainy afternoon.

These are our seniors—dignified as they can be, already.

Seniors have the most fun! John Taft contemplated buying Zoe Boyer's box lunch—decided to take a chance in spite of her reputation as a cook. Speaking of cooks, the "something new has been added" flavor of the chow at the Senior Spaghetti Feed was provided by Dave Underholt. The boys and gals made money for the class by swabbing cars at a car wash, and Darwin Mickle, zoot suit and all, showed Mr. Jackson that youth will triumph in this world after all. Below? Well, it's always Springtime in California.

"It takes a lot of money to make up a book like this one. The students pay a great share of this, of course, by paying their subscription, but it still isn't enough. Advertising pays the rest of the bill. We are fortunate at Alhambra to have so many business and professional people who are willing to help us out on this project each year, and we would like to express our thanks to them."

YOU DON'T HAVE TO BE CRAZY–

BUT IT HELPS!!!

This concludes our job on your 1958 Torch. We have tried to keep two ideas in mind: the book that you want to see today, and the book that you want to look at twenty years from now. We have spent your money, we've dragged you from class (against your will, of course) for picture appointments, and we have hounded you to buy our product—sight unseen. It's been a "REAL BLAST"—We hope you like your TORCH.
